About

The annual Arizona Emergency Management (AzEM) Conference is the premier statewide gathering for professionals dedicated to safeguarding Arizona's communities. This two and a half day event convenes leaders and practitioners from city, county, tribal, state, and federal agencies, alongside non-profit organizations, private sector partners, academia, and volunteer groups, fostering a truly whole-community approach to emergency management.

Attendees engage in expert-led sessions, hands-on workshops, and networking opportunities designed to address the state's most pressing challenges in preparedness, response, recovery, and mitigation. From innovative technologies and policy updates to lessons learned from recent incidents, the conference provides actionable strategies and collaborative solutions tailored to Arizona's unique hazards and operational landscapes.

With a focus on partnership, professional development, and practical tools, the AzEM Conference equips attendees with the knowledge, skills, and connections needed to strengthen resilience across all communities in Arizona.
